1 - PRESENTATION

Welcome to the 85th Monte-Carlo Rally!

New WRC cars take the stage for the first time in our 2017 rally with major changes such as increased engine power, larger chassis and new aerodynamic add-ons.

There is also a new manufacturer, Toyota, competing with the Citroen C3, Hyundai I20 and Ford Fiesta in the top class. In the other classes we will also see the return of the Skoda Fabia.

To start the 2017 Championship, with competition never more fierce, the Monte Carlo Rally is hosting more than 380 km of special stages (S.S.), divided over 17 timed sections and 4 race days.

After shakedown at Gap, on Wednesday 18th January from 16:00 to 20:00, competitors head to Monaco for the official start of the Rally, which starts at 18:11 on Thursday 19th, on the Place du Casino.

Drivers then compete in two night-time special stages, which will lead them back towards Gap: Entrevaux – Ubraye (21.25 km), already held last year, and Bayons – Bréziers (25.49 km), held for the first time this year, and to include a spectacular passage at Les Tourniquets. Return to the service park from 23:52.

After a short night's rest, Friday 20th January will be the most intense day with 6 special stages in the programme, covering a total of 160.80 km, and more new routes in Isère and Hautes Alpes. Drivers leave the Gap service park at about 09:00 and drive to Col de Festre for SS 3: Agnières en Dévoluy – Le Motty (24.63 km), which is a new stage, and then continue on to SS 4: Aspres-lès-Corps – Chaillol (38.94 km), taking the same route as two 2016 stages. The third stage of the morning (SS 5) was raced in 2016, but the start has been advanced to include a crossing of the Saint-Leger-les-Mélèzes ski resort and finish in La Bâtie Neuve (16.83 km) passing through Col de Moissière with the finish advanced slightly. These 3 stages (SS 3, 4 and 5) will be held again in the afternoon (SS 6, 7 and 8) and competitors will return to the service park at around 17:04.

On the third day of the rally, competitors will drive from Gap to Monaco in 5 special stages and a total of 121.39 km. The first two stages will be run twice: SS 9/11, Lardier-et-Valença – Oze (31.17 km) and SS 10/12, La Batie-Montsaléon – Faye, (16.78 km) roughly retrace the route of the longest special of 2016 in two unequal parts. SS 13, the final stage of the day, is a repeat of SS 2, Bayons – Bréziers (25.49 km), but driven in daylight, with a 15:03 start.

After a last stop at the Gap service park, the remaining competitors will drive down to Monaco, where cars will stay in the service park throughout the night, from 21:11.

On Sunday 22nd January, the last day of the race, the top 60 cars on the leaderboard will drive two special stages, each twice: SS 14/16, Luceram – Col St Roch, (5.56 km), a hillclimb; and SS 15/17, La Bollène-Vésubie – Peira Cava, (21.36 km), which was run in 2016. The second passage of the latter, SS 17, will be a Power Stage, allowing the first 5 finishers to clock up extra points (new in 2017).

Importantly, this day will be driven without a service park, with teams selecting their tyres in the morning when leaving the Monaco service park and keeping them for the whole day.

SS 1, 12 and 17 will be televised and broadcast live.

The Prize-giving Ceremony will be held, as in previous years, on the Place du Palais Princier, starting at 15:00 on Sunday afternoon, and the gala dinner at 20:30 will close this first leg of the FIA World Rally Championship.
