RALLY GUIDE 1

1 PRESENTATION / WELCOME

1/1 A word from the FFSA President

Ladies and gentlemen,

I am really delighted to welcome you all again to the Ile de Beauté* for the third year running. Once again this year the extensive involvement of the local authorities alongside us has helped us to maintain the Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse as a major sporting event on the international scene, and of course on the national one too.

The Federation has taken advantage of the experience acquired in 2015 and 2016 to put on an even bigger spectacle with more action and suspense for spectators and entrants alike.

If our aim was to make things more difficult in 2016 by increasing the number of kilometers, in 2017 we want to make this major French event more accessible. Taking into account the fact that the event has been moved to the spring of 2017 as well as the excellent feedback of those involved, we decided to use the same route as the one we laid out last autumn.

Thus, in addition to being the fourth round of the FIA World Rally Championship, the Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse will allow the maximum number of rally drivers, most of whom are amateurs, to share the same playing field as the world elite. Rallying is one of the few activities, all sports combined, in which such a thing is possible. Thus, we are very pleased that we have managed to retain the principle of a combined classification in which amateur drivers appear on the same footing as those in the WRC.

I hope that as many of our licence-holders, as possible starting with Corsican drivers, will take advantage of this thanks to the preferential entry fees and the excellent welcome we've laid on for them.

The Tour de Corse – 10.000 Virages reserved for GTs, Supercars and legendary cars will again take place. This event attracts a top-class, amateur field; it combines pleasure, conviviality and the discovery of Corsican roads and the island's heritage, and is organised in parallel to the World Championship.

So all the right ingredients are in place to make the Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse an exceptional human and sporting adventure from 6th to 9th April. In the name of the FFSA and its Steering Committee I would like to wish you all an excellent 2017 Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse."

Nicolas Deschaux,
President of the French Motor Sports Federation
* The name given to the island of Corsica by the French

RALLY GUIDE 1

1/2 The challenge

THURSDAY 6th APRIL: SHAKEDOWN

SORBO-OCAGNANO (5,40 km)

The drivers will set off for the north east of the island for the shakedown where they will play themselves in while the mechanics make the final adjustments. The last test in racing conditions for the French round of the World Rally Championship will take place a few kilometers from the Bastia-Poretta airport where the nerve centre of the event is located.

The crews will start off from the Querciolo village on a wide, twisty technical road section lined with excellent viewing zones for the public. The change in surface and the way the road narrows on the approach to Sorbo Ocagnano make the second part of the shakedown a trickier challenge. The cars will then head downhill on an even narrower road in the woods that's often damp on their way to the finish in Castellare di Casinca.

In the afternoon the crews will cross the Ile de Beauté from north to south to Ajaccio for the night-time starting ceremony. Once they have passed scrutineering and administrative checks they will then relay one another on the starting ramp before going on to the Parc Fermé.

FRIDAY 7th APRIL: LEG 1

SS 1-3: PIETROSELLA – ALBITRECCIA (31,20 km)

The first stage has been shortened and its route modified. Compared with the 2016 event the first 26 km have been replaced by a new 7,4 km section.

After changing tyres in Porticcio the crews will follow a twisty, bumpy road section measuring 7,4 km near Agosta, which joins up with the 2016 route at the Pietrosella hairpin.

They will then follow a very narrow road with a worn surface as far as the famous Col de Bellevale hairpin, where the road rises very abruptly.

Then comes a change of pace on the climb up to the Bisinao village on a wide section with strings of quick corners. Their next challenge is a narrow, twisty road with several surface changes as far as the Albitreccia hairpin.

SS 2-4: PLAGÉ DU LIAMONE – SAROLLA CARCOPINO (29,12 km)

The Plage de Liamone will be the major attraction at the start of the stage. Straight away the drivers will have to tackle a very quick uphill section on the way to Casaligione with its very tight hairpin, which always poses a problem.

Then comes a change of pace and profile with a wide, twisty road leading to Pont de Furcina and then a string of quick corners and an uphill climb along a narrow winding bumpy road to the Calcatoggio hairpin. The road is very narrow and twisty so getting the apexes right will be a difficult task.

The crews will cross the villages of Sant' Andrea d'Orcino and Cannelle along a road that poses another technical challenge and brings them to the Sari d'Orcino hairpin.

The next section is much wider and climbs uphill to Col de Sarzoggio followed by a pretty tricky downhill run to Sarrola-Carcopino, the end of the second stage.

SATURDAY 8th APRIL: LEG 2

SS 5-7: LA PORTA – VALLE DI ROSTINO (48,71 km)

One myth follows another with this stage that played such an important role in the glorious era of the Tour de Corse. Its length has been reduced by 5 km at the start. The stage begins with a technical uphill section to the Porta church, Castagniccia's most symbolic monument and a legendary challenge in the Tour de Corse. The next test for the drivers is a narrow, twisty, road deformed in places, which runs through the Giocatojo village and crosses the Col Saint Antoine, one of the high points of the rally (687 m).

The crews will then head downhill along roads with new and worn surfaces and quick, winding sections that will take them to Ortiporio, Penta Acquatella and Barchetta and its spectacular hairpin.

RALLY GUIDE 1

They will join Campile after a radical change of surface on a hill climb-like section.

A much twistier road on the mountainside brings them to Bisinchi and Castello di Rostino followed by the final section comprising a succession of downhill hairpins before they reach the finish not far from Valle di Rostino.

SS 6/8: NOVELLA (17,25 km)

In comparison with the previous event, the last 13,5 km of the 2016 Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse have been scratched.

The drivers start near the Pietra Monetta Auberge on a twisty road in the middle of the maquis (scrubland); they then have to cope with several difficult corners to reach the Novella village perched high in the mountains. The spectators will have a unique view on Balagne and the whole of the first part of this stage as the cars pass through the Gare de Novella and Col de la Croix.

A road that's just as twisty and narrow with an old surface will bring the crews to the finishing line just after the final corner in the old part of Balanine.

SUNDAY 9th APRIL: LEG 3

SS 9: ANTISANTI – POGGIO DI NAZZA (53,78 km)

The start of the longest stage in the rally will be given near the Purizzone hamlet after which the drivers will tackle a twisty uphill section that is very tricky in parts as far as Antisanti.

The crews will race along a rapid road section on the mountainside alternating banked corners and technical portions to the highest point of the rally (815 m above sea level) before the village of Vezzani; they will also pass close to Rospigliani. A fast downhill run will take them to Pietroso in the direction of Maison Pieraggi. Then comes a change of direction as they follow the very narrow, bumpy Col de Cardo road to the Défilé de l'Inzecca before veering off to Lugo di Nazza on very narrow, winding sections that all the crews had to brave in the 1980s.

The final section after Poggio di Nazza will demand intense concentration because of the frequent changes of road profile until the finish.

SS 10: PORTO-VECCHIO - PALOMBAGGIA (10,42 km) – POWER STAGE

This stage starts in Precojo and the cars head for Bocca-di-L'Oru along beautiful, twisty undulating roads that follow the coast overlooking the beaches of Folaca, Tamaricciu and Palombaggia. They then leave the first part for a narrow, twistier section at Porra followed by a string of hairpins before the finish of the Power Stage. The crews that have survived all the traps on the 316,16 km stages in the 2017 Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse will celebrate the finish of the rally in the heart of the Porto-Vecchio Marina.

THE STOPS

As in 2016, Bastia has been chosen by the FFSA to be the hub of the 2017 Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse. The commune of Lucciana, will notably welcome the Service Park which will be located at the airport of Bastia from 6 -9 April 2017.

Bastia is the nerve centre of the 2017 Che Guevara Energy Drink Tour de Corse and life in the town will vibrate to the rhythm of the event. On Friday 7th and Saturday 8th April all the WRC crews will stop on the Place Saint Nicolas in Bastia for an autograph session and a passage on the ramp before going to the service park for assistance and then the Parc Fermé.

On Sunday they will go to Porto Vecchio for the finishing ceremony, and then come back to the service park after which they rejoin the Parc Fermé for scrutineering.
