1. INTRODUCTION

Dear participants and guests,

Welcome to the 47th Cyprus Rally!

Our rally has been entertaining participants and spectators for decades, something we aim to continue with this iteration of our event. Our 47 years of experience, and our passion for this sport, arms us with all the resources to host a successful rally, making sure to deliver the best possible event.

It is my promise, as a member of the Organizing Committee, and that of every volunteer of this rally, that we will perform our duty diligently in order for us to enjoy a safe and exciting event.

The 2019 Cyprus Rally returns... to Autumn (although, I am certain that this will feel like Summer to most of you!) From the 27th until the 29th of September, Nicosia and Larnaca will feel the pulse and rhythm of this great celebration of motorsport that we know as the Cyprus Rally 2019.

The main course of the event will take place on Saturday, the 28th, and Sunday, the 29th of September, with 12 classic Special Stages on a mixed surface of asphalt and dirt! It should be noted that mix surface Stages were a world-first in our very own rally in 2009! In comparison to last year's events, the big change this year is the inclusion of semi mountainous Special Stages in the Nicosia district, famous for their demanding characteristics and spectacular vistas and turns.

Nicosia will, of course, host the Super Special Stage, on Saturday at 17:00, offering a unique show with rally cars tackling corners in the heart of the city.

The Start and Finish Ceremonies will remain by the seaside for this year as well, on the beachhead of Foinikoudes in Larnaca, which befits the rally to perfection giving all our guests the chance to enjoy the sun and sea of our beautiful island, which remains an incredibly attractive tourist destination.

On Friday, the 27th of September, at 19:00, all crews will take their place before the Starting Ramp, to gather applause and strength from the gathering crowd, while on Sunday, the 29th at 18:00, we shall return to Larnaca in order to welcome the winners and finishers of this year's rally.

The base of operations for the rally returns to Nicosia, with the Headquarters, Press Office and Service Park being situated in very close proximity to each other, just at the entrance of the city, right next to the Police Headquarters.

To sum up, I would like to welcome all crews from abroad to our island, and I am greatly looking forward to meeting all the participants and lovers of this sport at the Start Ceremony.

A heartfelt welcome to you all. Let us enjoy this year's rally.

Nayia Kontopoulou
Clerk of the Course

2. EVENT OVERVIEW / HISTORY

The Cyprus Rally was first held in 1970. Back then, it was a long, rough, tough and ultimately destructive event, with unattainable average speeds and controls placed to extract maximum time penalties. However, it was efficiently organised and overseas visitors enjoyed the warm hospitality and genuine friendliness of the event.

Despite suffering a two-year gap (1974/75), the rally quickly climbed the European coefficients, reaching coefficient 3 in 1978.

1982 saw the Cyprus Rally promoted to the top level in Europe and it went on to become one of the elite, when coefficient 20 was devised in 1988. From then, the goal was the World Championship.

The Cyprus organisers were thrown in at the deep end when the Rally was taken into the WRC as a last-minute replacement for the China Rally in May 2000, leaving them just four months in which to put everything together.

The event was a level playing field for the WRC teams as Armin Schwarz was the only driver to have competed on the island. A crushing start-to-finish victory gave Carlos Sainz his first win in the Ford Focus and his 23rd in the WRC. Team-mate Colin McRae came in second and François Delecour rounded off the top three for Peugeot.

The 2001 Rally moved from sweltering September to flaming June and Ford won again. This time Colin McRae took the honours. Richard Burns was runner-up for Subaru and Carlos Sainz was third in another Ford.

Marcus Grönholm won the 2002 Cyprus Rally, run in lashing April rainstorms, without winning a single stage! His Peugeot team-mate Burns was second and Tommi Mäkinen brought his Subaru home in third place.

In 2003, the rally was back to June and Subaru's Petter Solberg scored his first win of the season – a season that culminated in his taking the World Championship crown. Harri Rovanperä managed to hang on to second place in his Peugeot while Sébastien Loeb took third in the Citroën, leading the three double-chevrons to a 3-4-5 finish.

Sébastien Loeb was declared winner of the 2004 Cyprus Rally in the Citroën Xsara, after Marcus Grönholm was disqualified because of a technical infringement on the Peugeot 307 WRC. Estonian Markko Märtin was second, retaining the Manufacturers' Championship lead for Ford, and Carlos Sainz was third in the second Xsara.

2005 saw double world champion Loeb rack up the fourth of his record-breaking ten season's victories in his Citroën Xsara. When engine problems put paid to Marcus Grönholm's Peugeot and Petter Solberg's Subaru on the first day, Loeb pulled away from the rest of the field and eventually cruised to victory, 4m 09.5s ahead of Austrian Manfred Stohl, who took second in his OMV-backed Xsara. Third place went to Markko Märtin in the second Peugeot 307 WRC.

Loeb continued to rewrite the history books by securing a record-breaking 28th WRC victory at the 2006 Cyprus Rally. Partnered by Daniel Elena, Loeb's Citroen Xsara finished with a comfortable winning margin of 21.2 seconds over Grönholm's Ford Focus. Grönholm's team-mate Mikko Hirvonen was third overall in a second Focus.

In 2007, the Cyprus Rally was round 6 of the FIA Middle East Rally Championship (MERC) and Charalambos Timotheou became the first Cypriot driver to win the event since 1991, taking overall victory with Pambos Laos in their Mitsubishi EVO IX. Defending Middle East and P-WRC champ Nasser Al-Attiyah of Qatar and co-driver Chris Patterson came 2nd in their Subaru Impreza WRX STi, while Cypriots Dimitris Papasavvas and Vangelis Xenofontos, also in an Impreza WRX STi, completed the podium.

The Cyprus Rally was round 2 of the 2008 FIA Middle East Championship. Cypriot Nicos Thomas and co-driver SG Chips won the event in their Mitsubishi Lancer Evolution IX. At 20 years of age, Thomas was the youngest driver ever to win the Cyprus Rally and also the youngest driver to ever win a MERC event. Cypriot Savvas Savva secured 2nd place in their Mitsubishi Lancer Evo VIII, while Qatar's Nasser Al-Attiyah finished 3rd in his Subaru.

2009 marked a return to the WRC with the FxPro Cyprus Rally round 3 on the calendar. Sébastien Loeb - with Daniel Elena at his side - scored an emphatic victory in his Citroen C4 and made history by securing his landmark 50th WRC victory in the process! Finland's Mikko Hirvonen finished second in his Ford Focus, with Norwegian privateer Petter Solberg securing the last place on the podium in his Citroen Xsara.

2010 saw the FxPro Cyprus Rally join the Intercontinental Rally Challenge (IRC), while also serving double duty as an official round of the 2010 FIA Middle East Rally Championship (MERC). The final round of the 2011 IRC calendar, and round 7 of the MERC, the event saw defending Middle East Rally Champion Nasser Al-Attiyah of Qatar and his co-driver Giovanni Bernacchini of Italy steer their Ford Fiesta S2000 to a stunning victory. While Al-Attiyah had enjoyed an outstanding record of victories in Cyprus's Troodos Rally, this marked his first Cyprus Rally win. The inaugural Love Cyprus Golden Stage Rally, held immediately after the FxPro Cyprus Rally, was won in thrilling style by Norway's Andreas Mikkelsen and his co-driver Ola Floene in their Ford Fiesta S2000.

In 2011, the Cyprus Rally moved west to Pafos and saw Norway's Andreas Mikkelsen secure the IRC title on the final event of season. No fewer than five drivers had the chance to take the IRC title here, but it was Mikkelsen who proved the master, steering his Skoda Fabia S2000 to a worthy victory alongside co-driver Ola Floene. Qatari ace Nasser Al-Attiyah, who had been a favourite to take victory, was running second on the final day when engine failure ended his event prematurely. In a confident performance, Mikkelsen kept his cool to take the event and the season with phenomenal pace and considerable style. Immediately after the Cyprus Rally, Belgium's Thierry Neuville and co-driver Nicolas Gilsoul dominated the 2nd ever Cyprus Golden Stage Rally from the start, steering their Peugeot 207 S2000 to a well-earned victory with a bravura display of driving.

In 2012, the Cyprus Rally stays in Paphos. Final event of 2012 Intercontinental Rally Challenge and the penultimate round of FIA Middle East Rally Championship. Nasser Al-Attiyah and co-driver Giovanni Bernacchini steered their Ford Fiesta RRC to a memorable 3 minute 35.3 second victory over closest rival Andreas Mikkelsen. The Norwegian manage to win the 2012 Intercontinental Rally Challenge. Toshi Arai's performance was enough to see him finish the event in 3rd place overall and as the 1st among the IRC Production Cup drivers in a Subaru Impreza. Savvas Savva finish the rally 6th and he was first among the Cypriot Crews. Britain's Harry Hunt secured himself the IRC 2WD Cup in his Citroen DS3. He started the event locked in a battle with France's Robert Consani (Renault Clio R3) but Consani's event ended in SS4, leaving the route to the 2WD Cup clear for Hunt who just had to finish the event.

In 2013, the Cyprus rally moved to the capital after a long absence, while also serving double duty as an official round of the 2013 FIA Middle East Rally Championship. In truly imperious form, Nasser Al-Attiyah and Giovanni Bernacchini on board their Ford Fiesta RRC clinched victory and a ninth Middle-East Rallying Championship in the CNP Asfaltistiki Cyprus Rally 2013. With only Dubai left in the MERC the Qatari multi-champion can now set his sights on next years Rally Dakar. Almost three minutes behind them was Sheikh Khalid Al Qassimi and Scott Martin with their Citroen DS3 RRC. The battle for second place was glorious with the Emirati driver claiming second place only 4.7s in front of the Qatari rallying prodigy Abdulaziz Al-Kuwari and his co-driver Killian Duffy. In 4th place overall was 2010 MERC champion Misfer Al-Marri and Nicola Arena on board their Ford Fiesta RRC. Right behind them was the Cyprus championship leader Costas Georgiou "Chips" with Elena Pieri and their Mitsubishi Lancer.

CNP ASFALISTIKI Cyprus Rally 2014 was a one-of-a-kind event. Two sanctioned FIA rounds ran side by side with the 9th round of the ERC and the 5th round of the MERC both took place on the same weekend. Yazeed Al Rajhi rocked the island with a commanding win from Friday Super Special Stage in the streets of Nicosia. The Saudi with Michael Orr by his side battled Kajetan Kajetanowicz and Jaroslaw Baran of Poland throughout the rally. Abdul Aziz Al Kuwari was third overall with his Ford Fiesta while the Sheikh Khalid Al Qassimi finished fourth. Fifth place overall was the Portuguese crew of Bruno and Carlos Maghalaes and their Peugeot 208 T16. Christos Demosthenous and Pambos Laos finished six and first among the Cypriot crews.

Eight time Middle East Rally Champion, Qatar's Nasser Ali Attiyah on board a Ford Fiesta RRC conquered the CNP ASFALISTIKI Cyprus Rally 2015 after a relentless battle with Poland's Kajetan Kajetanowicz with a Ford Fiesta R5 who finished second overall just seven seconds behind the Qatari driver who secured the ninth Middle East Rally title. That was Al Attiyah's fourth victory in the Cyprus Rally equaling France's Sebastian Loeb's record. CNP ASFALISTIKI Cyprus Rally counted as the ERC's eighth round and round five of the Middle East Rally Championship. Qatari Abdulaziz Al Kuwari with co-driver Clarke Marshall behind the wheel of a Ford Fiesta RRC finished third overall, in front of Portugal's Bruno Magalhaes, also on board a Peugeot 208 T16.

Christos Demosthenous and Pambos Laos behind the wheel of a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo 9 took top honours among the Cypriot crews, finishing ninth overall. Savvas Savva and Andreas Papandreou driving a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo

Alexey Lukyanuk was dominant in CNP ASFALISTIKI Cyprus Rally 2016, clinching overall victory and the European Rally Championship runner up spot, in the ERC season finale. He won 11 out of thirteen special stages losing only two to his rival for the second place of ERC standings, Latvia's Ralfs Simarcis (Skoda Fabia R5) who finished third overall. Germany's Marijan Griebel, ERC Junior Champion finished a surprising second overall in his first Ford Fiesta R5 drive. ERC regular David Botka on board a Citroen DS3 finished fourth overall. Christos Demosthenous finished fifth overall and first among Cypriot crews «Chips Junior» on board an Evo 9 finished sixth overall in his Cyprus Rally debut as a driver, followed by Costas Zenonos also with a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo 9. Two times Turkish Rally Champion, Murat Bostanci of Castrol Ford Team Turkiye driving a three-cylinder Ford Fiesta claimed the ERC3 victory followed by his team mate Bugra Banaz.

Nasser Al-Attiyah came out victorious of a drama-filled 2017 Cyprus Rally, scoring a record-breaking five victories in the sunshine island, surpassing Sebastien Loeb's four victories. 2017 rally confirmed its name as one of the most difficult events in the European Rally Championship. Al Attiyah essentially won the 2017 event with a considerable margin of over six minutes from second placed and first among local crews Simos Galatariotis with Antonis Ioannou on a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo X. Third place for Panicos Polykarpou and Gerald Winter driving a Mitsubishi Lancer Evo IX while Alexandros Tsoulouftas received the Colin MCRae Flat-out Trophy.

Cyprus' Simos Galatariotis on board a Skoda Fabia R5 won the 2018 Cyprus Rally after ten years in the closest battle ever recorded both in the Cyprus Rally and the European Rally Championship history. He won by just 0.6 seconds in front of the Portuguese Bruno Magalhaes also driving a Skoda Fabia R5. Hungary's Herczig and Ferencz finished in third overall completing a Skoda Fabia R5 1-2-3. Nasser Al Attiyah who climbed to the first place overall in penultimate stage, was forced to stop and change a punctured tyre in SS13 losing precious time slipping in fourth place overall.

23. GENERAL FACTS

There are many reasons why the beautiful Mediterranean island of Cyprus is one of the world's best-loved holiday destinations. There are the stunning beaches, the beautiful mountain scenery, the wealth of historical sites and the traditional warm Cypriot welcome. Aphrodite, the goddess of love, was born on the shores of Cyprus and, after spending some time here, you'll understand why she made it her home.

Cyprus is the third largest island in the Mediterranean after Sicily and Sardinia. It covers an area of 9,251 square kilometres (3,608 square miles) and lies at the north-eastern corner of the Mediterranean, at the crossroads of Europe, Asia and Africa. It is an island of contrasts with a coastline made up of stunning rock formations interspersed by long sections of sandy beach.

The main mountain range is the Troodos, with its highest peak, Mount Olympus, at 1,951 metres. There are 380 rural villages in the Republic and the population is just under a million. The main language is Greek but English is widely spoken (you'll find someone with a knowledge of English even in the rural villages).

There are four main towns in Cyprus: the capital Nicosia (Lefkosia), Larnaca (Larnaka), Limassol (Lemesos) and Paphos (Pafos). The main airports are at Larnaca and Paphos and modern motorways link all the main towns. The main seaports are at Larnaca and Limassol – Limassol being the main port.

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR NICOSIA

Nicosia is the capital of Cyprus, a status it has enjoyed for 1000 years since the 10th century, though its beginnings date back 5000 years to the Bronze Age. It lies roughly in the centre of the island in the Mesaoria Plain, flanked by the beautiful northern range of Kyrenia Mountains with its distinctive 'Pentadaktylos' - the five finger mountain. There are various suggestions as to the origin of the name Nicosia – or 'Lefkosia' in Greek - but the most likely one is linked to the popular tree, the tall 'Lefki' which once adorned the city.

Nicosia, the capital, is currently the biggest and most densely populated city on the Island. The developing, urban, yet historic and charming city of Nicosia is the major centre for arts, culture, diplomacy and business.

Seat of Government, Diplomatic headquarters and cultural centre of Cyprus, the capital presents two distinct faces: the old, original part of the city, surrounded by sturdy Venetian walls over 400 years old, and a busy modern metropolis which has a population of 171.000 together with the suburbs.

The Venetians demolished most of the Lusignan monuments, including churches and palaces, and used the masonry to fortify the city against the anticipated Ottoman invasion. In 1567, just before the conquest of Cyprus by the Ottomans, the Venetians started to build new protective walls in place of the old Lusignan walls ringing the city, so as to be able to defend Nicosia. They were to have a circumference of three miles, 11 bastions, each like a castle, and three gates. The remnants of the walls still encircle the old city today. The three gates were the Kyrenia Gate in the north, the Famagusta Gate in the east, and the Paphos Gate in the west. The Kyrenia Gate is still intact today, and remains as an attractive historic monument of northern Nicosia.

Within the large area encircled by the strong bastion walls that served to protect the town for centuries are many places of great historic interest.

The central Eleftheria Square links old Nicosia with the elegant modern city that has grown up outside the walls, where hotels, offices restaurants and gardens blend happily with the fine old houses and colonial buildings of this cosmopolitan city.

Places of interest in old Nicosia can be seen by taking a short walk. The Laiki Geitonia Area is a pedestrianised area of narrow winding streets, combining residential houses with craft shops and tavernas. It is a very popular area for both locals and tourists to browse among its many shops.

The heart of the city, within the 16th century Venetian walls has a number of interesting Museums and art galleries, Byzantine churches and a number of medieval and neo-classical buildings. Much of the charm and beauty of the old city is its labyrinthine alleyways and elegant courtyard houses. Outside the walls the new city with its modern facilities is a cosmopolitan centre of a modern European capital.

The heart of the city is Eleftheria (Freedom) Square, with the city hall, the post office and the library. Adjacent, pedestrian-only Ledra and Onasagorou streets are lined with shops of every type. These streets lead to the most lively part of the old city with narrow streets, boutiques, and cafés. At the end of Onasagorou Street, Panagia Faneromeni is a church built in 1872, constructed with the remains of an old castle and a convent.

Nicosia is also known for its fine museums. The Archbishop's Palace , the Folk Art Museum, National Struggle Museum, Cyprus Ethnological Museum (House of Dragoman Hadjigeorgakis Kornosios) and the Handicrafts Centre.

In Nicosia also there are mosques, like the Selimiye Mosque (Nicosia). This ancient church is the chief mosque in the northern side of Nicosia, and the festivals of Bayram and other Moslem gatherings are conducted here.

In terms of entertainment the old city has a lot to offer. Quite a large number of cafeterias and cafes with cultural character, restaurants (Greek and Cypriot cuisine, Spanish, Italian, Mexican etc.) and well known fast food brands are wide spread along the walled city. Bars, pubs and night clubs all within easy reach keep the old town enjoyable and alive.

(Remember, if you are going to cross from south to north, you will need your passport)

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR LARNACA

Larnaca has a reasonable claim to being the oldest city in Cyprus, with evidence of habitation up to 6000 years ago. Modern Larnaca, like other Cypriot coastal towns, is divided into an older city center and a wide sprawl of hotels and restaurants along the beach. The lively coastal promenade – known universally as the Finikoudes – is where locals and visitors alike come for a morning coffee or an evening beer, to flop out on the beach during the day and to stroll the wide pavement at sunset. It's the hub of the scene with restaurants, cafes and bars galore and during summer it fully revs up for the annual flood of holidaymakers. The old Turkish quarter of Skala is a slice of days-gone-by Cyprus full of whitewashed, quaintly dilapidated cottages where the arts and crafts traditions of the region are kept alive by the ceramic workshops which have moved in. Between the two you'll find the gorgeous Byzantine church of Agios Lazaros and Larnaka's little fort which have both – in their own ways – been keeping a beady eye on the town for centuries. Larnaca International Airport is located 6 km to the west of the city center.
